

Daniel Doulton

Chief Platform Officer, SCEYE

Daniel leads Sceye's commercial roll out, working with strategic partners to design and deploy solutions for a diverse range of clients.

He has 20 years' experience in the technology sector, which included founding SpinVox, now part of the AI speech platform powering Siri on iPhones.

Daniel is credited with more than 30 forms of IP, helped launch the first smartphones with Motorola/Symbian, and has been CEO, CSO and CPO and led venture-backed businesses across SaaS, mobile, media and telecoms. Daniel holds a first class masters in Engineering and MBA from Imperial College, London.